Dear Recruitment Team,

Driven by a deep interest in blending art and mathematics, I pursued a degree in Digital Design and Animation Engineering, followed by V-Ray certification. This foundation enabled me to build multidisciplinary expertise in design and engineering, specializing in product visualization and rendering.

This experience has allowed me to work across industries such as advertising, e-commerce, and game development, blending creativity with technical expertise. Along the way, I discovered that effective communication, attention to detail, and teamwork are essential to delivering innovative and impactful results.

My goal is to merge technology and creativity to optimize workflows and drive growth through innovative solutions. I am committed to bringing this dedication to your organization and making a meaningful contribution to your goals and vision.

I would love to be part of what you are building and bring my experience to the show.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Salvador Zepeda
